

WASHINGTON ASSOCIATION OF CONSERVATION DISTRICTS

Weekly Report

PREPARED BY: COYNE, JESERNIG, LLC

Thursday, February 19, 2015

Outside of Olympia, the public focus this week centered on the bipartisan transportation revenue package released by 2 Republican and 2 Democratic Senators last Thursday. The centerpiece of this package was an increase of 11.7 cents in the gas tax that would pay for highways, ferries, maintenance, and local roads across Washington State.

The $15 billion transportation proposal is an effort to bridge Republican-Democrat, and urban-rural divides, after highway funding bills failed in 2013 and 2014. The Senate Transportation Committee held a public hearing on 8 "reform" bills on Tuesday, and 3 "revenue" bills on Wednesday. It remains to be seen how quickly this Committee, or the Senate as a whole, will actually vote on these proposals.

Inside of Olympia, the legislature focused on the first major cutoff deadline of the 2015 Session. Called the "House of Origin – Policy Committee Cutoff Deadline", it occurs at 5:00 PM on this coming Friday, February 20th. At that time roughly 70% of the 2,500 bills that have been introduced this year will be "dead". The second major cutoff deadline, (the "House of Origin – the Fiscal Committee Cutoff Deadline"), will occur next week. That cutoff deadline will "kill" another 5% of the bills that have been introduced, which means that only 25% of the bills introduced this Session will still be "alive".

Funding to implement the planning phase of the Voluntary Stewardship Program (VSP) remains as elusive as ever. You may recall that the $7.6 million needed to fund this program was included in last year's Supplemental Capital Budget, but was "killed" when that budget crashed and burned. Our problem this year is which fund VSP should be funded out of, since everyone seems to think it should get funded.

Gov. Inslee funded VSP out of the Public Works Trust Fund. Unfortunately, the House and Senate oppose the use of this fund to pay for VSP. The Senate is likely to try and fund VSP with money out of the Model Toxics Control Account (MOTCA), but using funds out of that account is a "non-starter" with the House and Gov. Inslee. Budget writers from both Chambers, and both sides of the aisle, don't want to fund VSP out of the General Fund, since that money will be needed to craft an overall Operating Budget. Frustrated members of the Ag Lobby are concerned that this process is starting to resemble a game of "Musical Chairs", with the unfortunate end result of VSP funding coming up empty yet again this year.

Efforts to better manage dairy manure that started late last year seem to finally be coming together on a positive note. Gone is any legislation that would have implemented a statewide dairy manure licensing plan, (the Department of Agriculture could not even get 1 sponsor for that piece of proposed legislation), and in its place is a voluntary certification program that would certify dairy producers as having applied their manure according to agronomic rates.

This concept stems from a lawsuit in Eastern Washington that led to a Federal District Court judge ruling that any applications above agronomic rates would be treated as the equivalent of a toxic spill. Since this voluntary certification program would essentially give dairy producers their "Get out of jail free" card, it has become apparent that a very high percentage of dairy producers would enroll in this new program.

Finally, the "House of Origin – Policy Committee Cutoff Deadline" will "kill" 3 of the 4 assessment/rates & charges bills WACD has been following, (HB 1101, HB 1264, and SB 6003), but our most important bill, SB 5322, will remain "alive". It now awaits action in the Senate Rules Committee. We have a couple of weeks to hopefully get a member of the Committee to "pull" SB 5322 to the Senate Floor, where it could be voted over to the House.
